For an unimaginably long time, nature has been shaping Mount Beljanica and its rolling slopes, the Resava River with its steep canyons, the Resava Cave and dozens of others, springs and waterfalls, endless forests and meadows. Enchanted by this fairytale landscape, Despot Stefan Lazarević built his endowment here – the Manasija Monastery, founded the Resava School, and penned the verses of the poem “Slovo ljubve” (The Word of Love). Thus, both nature and people have created – the very best they could. Inspired, and with great love, so that we may marvel at it today.

Welcome to Beljanica, a realm of the most lavish nature!
